Customer Reviews

Anna Brett has worked in children's publishing for over seven years and has written and edited a huge variety of books. Her experience spans everything from curriculum-based reference to popular culture and books with digital extras, pop-ups and stickers. This means she's used to thinking upside down and back to front when it comes to fun activities for children!

Your young child will enjoy hours of fun independently as well as with adult focused assistance with both of these books. So much to learn and do. Pencils , crayons, and scissors are about the only tools you need in order to complete the activities. Your child will enjoy making things, like a pirate hat and eye patch. The book has puzzles, mazes, dot to dots, visual discrimination, games, matching and counting activities. All the answers are provided at the back of the book. This book would make a great gift or take it along on a road trip or when you visit someone. I received this for review - all opinions are my own
