

The book was found

Where The Bird Sings Best

Synopsis

The magnum opus from Alejandro Jodorowsky — director of The Holy Mountain, star of Jodorowsky's Dune, spiritual guru behind Psychomagic and The Way of Tarot, innovator behind classic comics The Incal and Metabarons, and legend of Latin American literature. There has never been an artist like the polymathic Chilean director, author, and mystic Alejandro Jodorowsky. For eight decades, he has blazed new trails across a dazzling variety of creative fields. While his psychedelic, visionary films have been celebrated by the likes of John Lennon, Marina Abramovic, and Kanye West, his novels — praised throughout Latin America in the same breath as those of Gabriel Garcia Márquez — have remained largely unknown in the English-speaking world. Until now. Where the Bird Sings Best tells the fantastic story of the Jodorowskys' emigration from Ukraine to Chile amidst the political and cultural upheavals of the 19th and 20th centuries. Like One Hundred Years of Solitude, Jodorowsky's book transforms family history into heroic legend: incestuous beekeepers hide their crime with a living cloak of bees, a czar fakes his own death to live as a hermit amongst the animals, a devout grandfather confides only in the ghost of a wise rabbi, a transgender ballerina with a voracious sexual appetite holds a would-be saint in thrall. Kaleidoscopic, exhilarating, and erotic, Where the Bird Sings Best expands the classic immigration story to mythic proportions.

Book Information

Paperback: 400 pages

Publisher: Restless Books; Reprint edition (July 5, 2016)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 1632060957

ISBN-13: 978-1632060952

Product Dimensions: 6 x 1.1 x 9 inches

Shipping Weight: 1.2 pounds (View shipping rates and policies)

Average Customer Review: 4.5 out of 5 stars 21 customer reviews

Best Sellers Rank: #152,552 in Books (See Top 100 in Books) #40 in Books > Biographies & Memoirs > Ethnic & National > Hispanic & Latino #210 in Books > Literature & Fiction > United States > Hispanic #3636 in Books > Literature & Fiction > Genre Fiction > Family Life

Customer Reviews

"Where the Bird Sings Best is Alejandro Jodorowsky's brilliant, mad and unpredictable semi-autobiographical novel. Translated by Alfred MacAdam, this multigenerational chronicle introduces a host of memorable characters, from a dwarf prostitute and a floating ghost-Rabbi to a lion tamer who eats raw meat and teaches his beasts to jump through flaming hoops. Fantastical elements aside, Where the Bird Sings Best is a fiercely original immigration tale that culminates in the author's birth in Chile in 1929 – a complicated time in that nation's history.

Combine that with poetry, tarot and Jewish mysticism and you have a genius's surreal vision brought to life. NPR, Best Books of 2015 – “Wildly inventive . . .

. . . Jodorowsky's masterpiece swirls around the reader, lurching from violent episode to mystical encounter to cosmic sexual escapade as we follow our narrator's grandparents' journey from the old world to, refreshingly, South America. As the drama unfolds, the reader's response veers from incredulity to awe, from doubt to delight. The momentum holds for the length of the novel as a cavalcade of outsized characters careen across the page in a frenzy that seems for once an adequate and just representation of the living fury that is history . . . The images possess an extreme yet striking beauty . . . In the case of Where the Bird Sings Best, he has masterminded a success. The Los Angeles Review of Books – “This epic family saga, reminiscent of Gabriel Garcia Marquez's One Hundred Years of Solitude in structure and breadth, reads at a breakneck pace. Though ostensibly a novelization of the author's own family history, it is a raucous carnival of the surreal, mystical, and grotesque . . . It weaves together Jewish philosophy, passion, humor, Tarot, ballet, circuses, natural disasters, spectacular suicides, lion tamers, knife throwers, Catholic devotion, farmers, betrayals, prostitutes, leftist politics, political violence, and the ghost of a wise rabbi who follows the family from the Old World to the New. Publishers Weekly – “First, a hard-boiled fact: No one alive today, anywhere, has been able to demonstrate the sheer possibilities of artistic invention – and in so many disciplines – as powerfully as Alejandro Jodorowsky . . . His new semi-autobiographical novel Where the Bird Sings Best, translated by Alfred MacAdam, is his magnum opus, a fantastical something that in many ways mirrors the author himself: It is brilliant, mad, unpredictable . . . It's not difficult to see why

Where the Bird Sings Best has been compared to Gabriel Garcia Marquez's One Hundred Years of Solitude. But Jodorowsky's saga stands firmly on its own . . . Reading

Jodorowsky is not suspending reality; it is allowing yourself to believe that with imagination, anything and everything is in the realm of possibility . . . You can't be certain as to what exactly Jodorowsky is channeling in Where the Bird Sings Best – but it doesn't feel like it's native to our universe. Still, in this absurd and glorious carnival, he is the only one worthy to be called the keeper or tamer of anything. Juan Vidal, NPR

Books"Jodorowsky is today's true Renaissance man—a master of many mediums that all point directly towards a towering and imaginative vision replete with profound insights into the real by way of the surreal. The stories told in Where the Bird Sings Best contain deep moral lessons, giving his mythic immigration story the feel of a modern day Sefer-ha-Aggadah—the classic collection of Jewish folk tales drawn from the Mishnah, Midrash and Talmud. This long awaited and brilliantly evocative translation is a must read—frightening, hilarious, outrageous, touching, and (as is always with Jodorowsky's work) filled with a deep core of mystic truth." —John Zorn

"A sweeping tale of personal, philosophical, and political struggles. It's an immigrant's story of Fellini-esque proportions. . . . For the self-proclaimed atheist mystic, the sacraments are memory, dreams, family, wisdom, the grotesque, and the reinvention of the self. . . . Publisher Restless Books reminds us that during Jodorowsky's decades-long absence from cinema, he maintained his status as a notable Latin American novelist. . . . A conduit and biographical key that further reveals his mesmerizing process of imaginative self-fashioning." —Flavorwire

"In his ancestral adventures, Jodorowsky brings to life not just the engaging story of his own family, but the mechanisms of engagement underlying story itself. Each paragraph pulsates, threatens to burst from its burgeoning body of details. Jodorowsky relieves pressure as necessary. But time after time, he proceeds to build up and dazzle all over again. One gets the sense when reading that at no point did Jodorowsky ever come up with something and save it for later. Each individual section is endowed with Jodorowsky's full vitality." —The Jewish Book Council

"I find myself impressed by his dilatory imagination, love of pure spectacle, and puckish sense of humor. . . . Sober, dressed, and with all the lights on, I ripped through Where the Bird Sings Best—the first of Jodorowsky's many novels to appear in English translation—in just a few enraptured days. The trick is to eschew caricature and give yourself over to the experience, at which point the wondrous strange takes over. The mind—and, god help me, the spirit—finds itself traveling in realms it could not have otherwise explored, or even dreamed exist. . . . Where the Bird Sings Best is electrifying." —Barnes & Noble Review

Alejandro Jodorowsky was born to Ukrainian Jewish immigrants in Tocopilla, Chile. From an early age, he became interested in mime and theater; at the age of 23, he left for Paris to pursue the arts, and has lived there ever since. A friend and companion of Fernando Arrabal and Roland Topor, he founded the Panic movement and has directed several classic films of this style, including The Holy Mountain, El Topo and Santa Sangre. A mime artist, specialist in the art of tarot, and prolific author, he has written novels, poetry, short stories, essays, and over thirty successful comic books, working with such highly regarded comic book artists as Moebius and Bess. Restless Books will be publishing three of Jodorowsky's best-known books for the first time in English: Donde mejor canta un pájaro (Where the Bird Sings Best), El niño del jueves negro (The Son of Black Thursday), and Albina y los hombres perro (Albina and the Dog Men). Alfred MacAdam is professor of Latin American literature at Barnard College-Columbia University. He has translated works by Carlos Fuentes, Mario Vargas Llosa, Juan Carlos Onetti, José Donoso, and Jorge Volpi among others. He recently published an essay on the Portuguese poet Fernando Pessoa included in the Cambridge Companion to Autobiography.

Huge, weird, joyous, raunchy, full of family legends and disturbingly compelling and surreal incest, Tarot and Jewish mysticism, lovers embalmed in honey and lion tamers more lion than tamer, this book is crazy and yet also completely engrossing and relatable. Even if you haven't seen Jodorowsky's films (but even better if you have), you're in for a treat. I won't describe the plot, because it's impossible to describe, but if maximalism and sexual freedom and really excellent and inventive writing are your bag, then I highly recommend Where the Bird Sings Best.

I agree with all the great things other people've written in their reviews. My addition, for people who already love and admire Jodorowsky's movies, is that reading this book is like plunging into one of his movies (and that's what you do with his movies, "plunge into" them) that lasts for 20 hours. Certainly one of the most thrilling and satisfying "novels" I've ever read. As Patti Smith said once about William S. Burroughs, "We just can't worship him enough."

I wish I could give Where the Bird Sings Best seven stars. This novel makes most other novels seem stupid and worthless. His writing is pure magic. As I read, I had two main feelings -- HOW is he doing this with mere words? and WHY can't there be more books like this?

I'm a big Jodorowsky fan. I found the plot in some ways mirrored the rich, creative world of The Incal, but also had a few of the same weaknesses. At times I felt it was hard to follow plot progressions and was also left without answers to certain questions. But with the way it came together, I couldn't help but give it five stars. A must read for fans of magical realism.

A very strange world indeed. Sometimes goes off in bizarre twists and turns but it kept me riveted. Jodorowsky has a very poor opinion of the human race. For the most part he's right.

This book is a little "off the wall." but very deep and meaningful. Full of mystical symbolism.

AMAZING! If you like Marquez, Cortazar or any MAGICAL REALISM writing you will be blown away. Honestly, one of the very best books I have read!

Totally absorbing and mind expanding!

Download to continue reading...

The Gooney Bird Collection: Gooney Bird Greene; Gooney Bird and the Room Mother; Gooney the Fabulous; Gooney Bird Is So Absurd Then Sings My Soul Book 3: The Story of Our Songs: Drawing Strength from the Great Hymns of Our Faith (Then Sings My Soul (Thomas Nelson)) Where the Bird Sings Best I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings (Abridged Audio Edition) Gooney Bird Is So Absurd (Gooney Bird Greene) Bird by Bird: Some Instructions on Writing and Life Buffalo Bird Woman's Garden: Agriculture of the Hidatsa Indians [BUFFALO BIRD WOMANS GARDEN] [Paperback] Latin for Bird Lovers: Over 3,000 Bird Names Explored and Explained Friends vs. Family: The Ghost Bird Series: #3 (The Academy Ghost Bird Series) First Days: The Ghost Bird Series: #2 (The Academy Ghost Bird Series) First Kiss: The Ghost Bird Series: #10 (The Academy Ghost Bird Series) Forgiveness and Permission: The Ghost Bird Series: #4 (The Academy Ghost Bird Series) House of Korba: The Ghost Bird Series: #7 (The Academy Ghost Bird Series) The Healing Power of Sugar: The Ghost Bird Series: #9 (The Academy Ghost Bird Series) Push and Shove: The Ghost Bird Series: #6 (The Academy Ghost Bird Series) Lady Sings the Blues: The 50th-Anniversary Edition with a Revised Discography (Harlem Moon Classics) How the Hula Girl Sings Then Sings My Soul: 150 of the World's Greatest Hymn Stories America Sings -- Community Songbook: Piano/Vocal/Chords

Contact Us

DMCA

Privacy

FAQ & Help