Customer Reviews

Zoologist Jim Kavanagh has made a career out of introducing novices to plants, animals, the sciences and world cultures. In addition to creating over 500 simplified nature guides, he has also authored guides to languages, cities and outdoor skills. An avid traveler and backpacker, Kavanagh's path has taken him around the world to many remote destinations including the upper , Africa, Australia, and the Arctic Circle (and this is just the As). He is also the author of a series of state-specific guides to common species and natural attractions and a children's book on evolution.

This was perfect for my travels. Small and compact and covered the major animals.

Excellent service And guide

Great guide.

This entire series is very well done, and this guide is no exception. I order it in groups of 10-15 copies, along with the guide to African birds by the same author, and provide one of each to every traveler that signs up for my group Africa safaris. We are very limited on a total packing weight of 35 lbs due to the small planes we fly on, so even my field guides never make the cut. This guide covers the most common insects, birds, mammals and reptiles we are likely to see, and the lamination makes it very durable to use in the rain or toss in a backpack. I always leave mine behind for the guide or Land Cruiser driver to give to a school. and despite the suggestion they do the same, my travelers always take it back home to use in identifying the wildlife in their photos. Wish I could customize it with my name on the back, cause my clients hang on to it. It's not meant to replace a field guide, but it's a great, inexpensive and durable guide for quick identification out on a game drive. Great bang for the buck! Check out the whole series, these are great gifts for kids too! I bought my granddaughter in Ohio several native wildlife guides to stick in her backpack.

was extremely handy - all the people on the tour kept on asking to borrow it
