Customer Reviews

"Stop buying those plastic and Styrofoam egg cartons, Mom! Kids will want the cardboard kind to create the projects compiled in this book." - Publisher's Weekly

The emphasis on reusing household materials makes this a great option for the environmentally conscious and those looking for activities with inexpensive materials. A solid entry into recycling and crafting for young students, for use at home or in library programs.

Fiona Hayes has illustrated, designed and written children's books for nearly 20 years, and has worked with children and adults on a wide range of craft projects. She has always loved making things, from baking to all sorts of crafts. From her point of view, things you make are always better than anything you can buy, and best of all, creating wonderful stuff makes you and everyone else smile!

If your house is anything like mine you have cardboard aplenty! This book is the perfect solution for those with tons of cardboard and a love for crafting! These creations made almost entirely from the cardboard and paint are exceptionally cute! The step by step instructions are easy to follow and have simple accompanying images. One of my favorite things about this book is that each supply list is tiny! You can make so many cute things with a few items you probably already have on hand. Genius! My little guy and I love it! * I was given this book in exchange for an honest opinion, which this is.

Tired of throwing those endless egg cartons away?...Then DON'T! Inside the cover of this silly, creative, fun book is simple crafts one can make using egg-cartons! Each craft is clearly numbered step by step, giving simple, colorful illustrations and directions on how each of the 51 crafts are made. Several pages also has a handy "hint" to make your task even easier or more accessible. Some of the objects are silly, yet others are very clever and can be used in decorating, especially for the Holidays! The Book Cover is made of solid cardboard and is well bonded. The cover reflects the bright colorful images included in the book. This is an ideal book for cub scout/girl scout leaders, day camps, pre-schools, and parents/educators. This book was sent to me in exchange for an honest review, of which I have given.

I was so happy to see this book on making things with egg cartons. My grandson loves making different things out of empty egg cartons at home. Now he will be able to choose from 51 things. He is 10 years old so this will be a great resource for him to use. The illustrations are outstanding along with the instruction. Easy to follow along in making your project. Totally Fun. I would recommend this book. I was given this book from Quarto Publishing Group in return for a honest review.
