My daughter has been fascinated with Paris since she was a little girl. I was excited to get this for her and for her to learn more about a place she loves. Even her room has been decorated and designed like Paris! The book is filled with pictures, maps and facts about Paris. She can travel there in her mind even if we can't afford it as a family vacation. She loves looking through the book and admiring all the places she hopes to travel to some day. --By E. We can travel there but this book gives my grandkids the opportunity to visualize Paris without being there. They also utilize the internet to help them answers questions in the book. Anything that helps them learn is a plus to me. Well worth it. --By Denise L. Hillon September 7, 2016
I work at an international school, and we are constantly looking at ways to get global into the classroom. While our content focus is not on Europe this is a very helpful guide. It is set up to be very similar to any of their other guides. Kids have the opportunity to write and interact in this book. Activities include; word search, responding to different cultural situations, reading a map, reflecting on scenery, and many more activities. Information includes; monuments, transportation, landmarks, museums, history, garden and many more things. This is a great book if you are traveling to Paris. --By E. Hineon August 30, 2016

Sometimes family vacations can be tricky. You can plan plenty of activities for the kids, but all they want to do is to stay in the hotel room and watch TV. You drive hours and hours to a famous attraction and when you get there you find out that the kids are only interested in their mobile devices. When you return home you realize that the kids don't remember much about the new places you were visiting. Well, maybe it never happens in your family but in case it does, don't worry! you are not alone. NEW!!! Kids' Activity Book series (Ages 4-8). This book is not what I expected. I purchased this for my kids who are 8 and 10 for an upcoming trip. The amount of history and general information was about right for their ages but the book fell short on providing details about specific, well-known destinations. I am not just looking to build general excitement about visiting France, I also want the kids to know a little about specific places we will be visiting day to day. A few specific destinations in Paris were covered, but none for the rest of the country. It just gave very high level information about the different regions.

with all the great reviews I was hoping to get a bit more of this book..... it is indeed very nicely done, but has only 10 locations it presents.... there's a lot of interactive activities, maybe a bit too much, and too less information.....

Very good resource if you're preparing for an overseas trip. Pictures, activities and questions throughout. Good quality. I bought these thinking it would be good for my 12 yo son. It was little below him though. We will still use, but would recommend for up to 10 yo.

Fantastic. This was perfect for my 8 year old as we spent a week in Paris

This guide is a perfect addition to our European trip for our kids aged 8 and 10. It has lots of information, is interactive with places for the the kids to fill information in either before they go or while on vacation and even has some challenges like find a statue and take a photo with it. It includes the main sites for kids in Paris, and we are basing our couple of days on the information in the book. So pleased I found this book, it will really help the kids understand and learn about what they are seeing.

Purchased as a gift for a 10 year old on her first trip to Paris. Seemed to be well laid out and intriguing for a her age. Good book for the plane ride!

Can't wait to give this to my little girl! We aren't going to Paris anytime soon but this will keep her busy until we get there! Great guide for kids. Definitely kid friendly and useful for trekking around the city.

My 9 year old niece, who goes to a French immersion school, was very excited about it and it went immediately into her travel bag to France. Her family was leaving the next day.
