Synopsis

Real Stories of Terror or Lies? Chilling Sightings And Encounters – Claim Your FREE Bonuses After the Conclusion! It doesn't matter where you live or what you think you know, there is no denying that these tales will make your hair stand on end and make you think twice before you head out into the woods again. There are documents describing these creatures all over the world, and they have been written near the same time – a time when there is no way the stories could be spread by word of mouth. So with this possibility in mind, I want to invite you on a journey. I want to show you thirteen tales of real werewolf encounters from all over the world and throughout the centuries. Though there will always be skeptics in the world, there are going to be those who have lived it for themselves and who aren't afraid to share what they have experienced with the rest of the world. And that is exactly what I want to share with you in these stories. You are about to read tales of real life events that have been reported by eyewitness accounts. Tales that will prove to you that there are possibilities we never before wanted to consider and tales that will show you that there very well may be these strange, half human, half dog creatures we call werewolves. Here Is A Preview Of What's Inside... Werewolf Horror: The Shapeshifting Werewolf of Texas Werewolf Horror: The Whitewater Werewolf Werewolf Horror: The Mystery of the Murdered Farmer Werewolf Horror: The Terrifying Attack of the Pack Werewolf Horror: The Winter Werewolf Werewolf Horror: The Haunting of the Prairie Ghost Much, much more! ## Customer Reviews

A very interesting collection of stories of attacks and encounters with werewolves or werewolve-like creatures. Excellently written and meticulously researched, as is this author's style. The stories are of encounters that are not "the usual" repeated stories from the US and world. A must read for those researching werewolf activity or cryptozoology, as well as those looking for a certain good scare. I did receive a free ARC pdf copy of this book in exchange for a fair review, but added to my own Kindle collection when it was released.

This was just God awful. It was like it was written by a 6 year old for 6 year olds. Very choppy, no continuity. It's suppose to be based on factual events, but the ones that are recent can not be verified anywhere on the internet, even as accidents, which pretty much means they're made up. The ones you can find are not really close to what the author wrote. This was a waste of time and money, I just wish I could at least get a refund.

This is another fascinating entry into the unknown with author Roger P. mills. This time the focus is on werewolves. 13 tales of terrifying encounters with the beasts, several in modern day times, are certain to give you a thrill. A nicely balanced mix of tales of old and new to scare you. I found the Texas story from 2011 to be particularly interesting. Fans of the paranormal won't be disappointed.

Very creepy.

This book kept me entertained from front to back. It would be a great read for around the campfire or the Halloween party.

I like reading about werewolves and dog men. These stories were scary. As always there were typos and grammatical errors. Mills is an interesting "true horror" writer. I read everything he writes, but I find myself going to the correction site on my Kindle way too often. Better proof writing and editing will go a long way. Normally, because of errors, I would have given this book 4 stars, but I think the content is interesting.

The writing was good. The problem is he is taking known tales and twisting the facts. Take his story about Scott Bray from Elkhorn Montana. The problem is that there really is a beast, it is known as the beast of Bray Road which is in Elkhorn Wisconsin. I want my money back!!!!

Really enjoyed this book of short stories. Whether they are true or not doesn't matter as they were entertaining and kept me thinking maybe there is some kind of human like dog creature out there or are these people crazy? Keep an open mind!
