Customer Reviews

Artist Jenean Morrison has been designing and publishing her best-selling coloring books for grown-ups since 2012. Five of her eight books have been published internationally by traditional publishers in France, Italy, Brazil, Japan, and several other countries. Her books have been featured in/on the L.A.Times, Washington Post, CNN.com, Quartz, NBC Nightly News, BUST magazine, Publisher's Weekly, Pure Wow, BuzzFeed and Pop Sugar. And Jenean has been profiled in both Tech Insider and Entrepreneur.com for her success as a self-published coloring book author. Jenean currently has over 1,000,000 coloring books in print and available on newsstands across North America. Her Flower Designs Adult Coloring Book, released in 2014, was on the Best-Seller list for over 8 weeks in 2015. She has also had four books on the .it BestSeller list in Italy in 2016. A full-time artist and creative business owner for 10 years, Jenean works from her Cooper-Young studio in Memphis, Tennessee. In addition to creating artwork for coloring books, Jenean creates designs for fabric, scrapbook kits, bedding, partyware and more. And Jenean's paintings can be found in the Bellagio, Mirage and Aria resorts in Las Vegas. Connect with her on Instagram--@JeneanMorrison--where she shares her creative coloring techniques and the day-to-day work and play of being a designer and artist. And visit her website (jeneanmorrison.net) for color and design inspiration. She is a homebody who loves to travel and a playful spirit who loves to work. Her passion for her work shines through in every design!

Another great one by Jenean morrison.love that each pattern has a dark and a light back ground

This book is excellent! The pages are single sided, but the same patterns are face to face on 2 pages. One side has a black background/fill and the other is all white.

AAA+

I own two other coloring books by Jenean Morrison; however, this the first of her "Pattern" style coloring books that I have purchased. There are 36 different designs; however, the designs have been done in two ways, so you get a total of 72 coloring pages. The designs range from mandalas to patterns in a rectangular format. Each design is done as a black line drawing on white background and also a similar style but with many of the elements filled in with black. This should make coloring the design a little easier for someone new to coloring while the designs without black give a great opportunity for the advanced colorist to use their blending and shading skills. For my first two projects, I chose to do a study of the same mandala in both styles available in the book. The first one is done with Tombow water-based markers on the design with black elements. The second one is done with a mix of alcohol-based markers and Tombows on the more intricate line drawing. It was interesting to see how the black color made the design look very different from the design where I choose all of the colors. I will provide a more comprehensive discussion of what I found in the book below for those who care for that level of detail. Here is an overview of the major points:

- 72 Designs Pages
- 36 Designs done in two styles each
- Designs printed on one side of white non-perforated paper
- Glue binding
- Designs do not merge into the binding
- Alcohol and water-based markers bleed through page
- Gel pens and India ink pens leave color shadows on back of page
- Coloring pencils work very well

The designs in the book are printed on one side of white non-perforated paper. Usually, designs are printed on the right hand side of the book. In this case, the artist chose to have each of the similar designs face each other, such that you have two design pages together and then two blank pages together. It is interesting as you can see both of the similar designs at the same time once you have colored them. The binding is glued rather than sewn. The designs are well centered on the page and do not merge into the binding. This makes it easy to cut the pages out without fear of losing any portion of the design. The artist has either finished all of the elements on the page or has included a framing line on the outer edges. I always try to mention this in my reviews when an artist has taken the trouble to add this feature. It makes it much easier for me to end up with a more polished result. It also saves me a lot of time and trouble not to mention ink. I test all of my books with various coloring medium (which I will list in the comments section below): Here is what my tests discovered: Alcohol and water-based markers bleed through the page. Gel pens and India ink pens leave shadows of color on the back of the page. Coloring pencils lay down extremely well. The soft lead pencils go on thick and can be blended easily. The hard lead pencils have good color but leave dents on the back of the page. Because of the results above, I have used and recommend using a blotter page of heavyweight paper or card stock behind the page you are working on. This will keep the rest of the book in good shape. I also recommend highly that you leave your book in the open position until your coloring is fully dried so that you don't accidentally mar the design on the opposite page.

This is one of the artists that I follow and I have purchased all of her coloring books as they are published, I love her style with her imaginative and artistic, balanced patterns, every detail is distinct and coloring her patterns always relaxes me. The cover picture is included in this wonderful coloring book and is representative of the art style in all of the illustrations, you will find 5 circular floral patterned mandala illustrations x 2, the other illustrations are full page patterns, centered on each page and you will find floral patterns like the cover and geometric shape patterns. This is going in my personal coloring library, I love playing with colors in these patterns. 1. 37 full page pattern illustrations and each is printed twice, one has black accents filled in the other one is completely white, and they are placed in this book facing each other. I love this unique layout in this book, it adds an element to the coloring experience and gives you the chance to color the same pattern illustration with different colors or use one to test colors to decide which you are going to use on your final picture. 2. 37 illustrations printed 2 x for a total of 75 illustrations to color, printed one per page, (the back of each page is blank) on light weight bright white paper. 3. All the illustrations are centered on each page and leave a 1/2 inch space between the binding and the image, this is plenty of space to easily remove a single page from this book or cut off the binding for coloring groups.4. All my markers both Alcohol based (Sharpies, Bic mark it, Copic) and Water Based (Koi, TomBow, Triplus) bleed through the paper so I place a piece of scrap paper under the page I am coloring to prevent damage to the next picture.5. Gel pens produce a shadow on the back of the page so I also add a piece of paper with these.6. Colored pencils work nicely on this paper7. The patterns are detailed but no tiny details; however you will want to use Ultra fine Markers, Gel pens or colored pencils.8. I am adding one of the patterns that I chose to color in two color schemes along with my favorite from this book to help you decide if this book is just right for you.9. You will find 5 mandala patterns each printed 2 x,

My first coloring book was by Jenean Morrison..I am so happy she has these beautiful new books out for us to enjoy! I love her style and look forward to having some stress free fun time. Highly recommend!

One of my favs. One design per page. Good card stock. The designs come in pairs - one is just lines while the other has more things filled in with black. Like a negative. Really nice.
