Zoo Coloring Book

Synopsis

A coloring book about the zoo would educate a child as to the different types of animals that exist As well as what is the natural color of the animals in their natural habitat. Children would be able to engage their imagination as to why a zebra has to be black and white and not purple. Such a coloring book would also present a useful interactive tool for the child to expand their memory capacity and their understanding of their environment and surroundings.

Super cute! I got this for my 90 year old Mother who has dementia and a limited level of what she is able to do anymore. This, and Word Search puzzles, are about the only activities I have found for her to do to try and stimulate her brain. Watching TV doesn't do it, as she can't keep up with the "thinking/challenging" games there. But this coloring book is just perfect as the pictures are large and simple, not intricate. She's enjoying it and I'm enjoying watching her be creative and successful in coloring the cute animals. Also got one with Sea Creatures that is just darling.

Nice, clear outlines and lots of pages with every zoo animal imaginable.
