I was anxious to read "Ghosts of Madison County" because I am a life long resident of Anderson, Indiana. The stories were interesting since I knew the spots all around Madison County. However, I was so distracted by the grammatical errors. Apparently this book was never proofread before printing. I was tempted to pull out my red pen!

My family is from Anderson. They thought it was a smile. It is being passed from household to household. Everyone is remembering the Anderson of their youth.

Ghosts of Madison County Indiana by Nicole Kobrowski was a chilling romp through the Madison County countryside. It was fun to read tales from very near where I grew up. Many tales were hauntings I had heard about as a kid. I devour any books on this subject matter and all of Nicole Kobrowski's books are among the very best I've read. This book in particular was very compelling, spooky and fun to read! Dim the lights and curl up with this book on a chilly October evening!

It was very interesting and hard to put down! Strange things happening in places that we are all familiar with.
