Just watch out for the sea monkeys, and the monkeys pretending to be sea monkeys, and the giant mutant mermaid sea monster . . . Oh, and, whatever you do, don't get trapped in a burp-gas-filled bubble . . . !The story follows Andy and Terry's crazy adventures in their treehouse as they try to write a book, and is told through a combination of text and fantastic cartoon-style illustrations.

Customer Reviews

Loved all the humour in it and how it was really exciting. Liked how they said a bit about themselves, and I liked how they put some really funny things that are a bit strange. I really liked how they got a banana and shot it all the way to another island, and 2 seconds afterwards a ginormous gorilla came back to get another bannana. I like how it is all about them, but none of the story is actually true.

This book is a must read for any child from 8 years old up. If you have a reluctant reader or boys, then this book is ideal. There are a lot of detailed, comical drawings and not much text, but in true Andy Griffiths style and with Terry Denton's illustrations the story comes alive and will have your kids hooked from the beginning—they won't be able to stop reading it! I have read this to a Year 2 class and they loved it! It was hard to read out loud because I found myself joining the kids rioting with laughter!!! Highly recommended!! Can't wait for the next instalment!

My 10 year old loved reading about Andy and Terry, loved that Andy lives in a Treehouse. Amazing adventures, including giving his cat the ability to fly.

My 8 year old son loved these and read them all in a week!

This is a great kids book. However it does not adapt well to the kindle form. The hand drawn pictures are hard to see properly and my child was very disappointed.

Is there a kid on earth who doesn't love this series

Really really good fantastic first book to the treehouse series

Kinda silly, not many adventures but quite a few jokes about a crazy mermaid monster that Terry thinks is his girlfriend
