Paul Jackson has turned the art of paper folding into a profession. As an internationally acclaimed origami expert, his work is exhibited around the world and has been featured on television. Angela A'Court is an artist and illustrator whose work is frequently exhibited in group and one-woman shows. Her particular interests lie in interior design and textiles, where she expresses her flair for design detail. --This text refers to the Hardcover edition.

This book contains some great craft ideas that do not need many items to create. It would be suitable for teenagers to do buy themselves, and 10+ with some help. The book contains some cards, picture frames, present wrapping ideas as well as some paper Mache projects. The origami section is okay, it contains some good models in the advanced section (Seal on a Rock, Electra modular star & Chinese vase), but the diagrams are not very clear.
