African Temples Of The Anunnaki: The Lost Technologies Of The Gold Mines Of Enki

Synopsis

Archaeological proof of the advanced civilization on the southern tip of Africa that preceded Sumer and Egypt by 200,000 years

- Includes more than 250 original full-color photographs of South Africa's circular stone ruins, ancient roads, prehistoric mines, large pyramids, and the first Sphinx
- Reveals how these 200,000-year-old sites perfectly match Sumerian descriptions of the gold mining operations of the Anunnaki and the city of Enki
- Shows how the extensive stone circle complexes are the remains of Tesla-like technology used to generate energy and carve tunnels straight into the Earth

With more than 250 original full-color photographs, Michael Tellinger documents thousands of circular stone ruins, monoliths, ancient roads, agricultural terraces, and prehistoric mines in South Africa. He reveals how these 200,000-year-old sites perfectly match Sumerian descriptions of Abzu, the land of the First People--including the vast gold-mining operations of the Anunnaki from the 12th planet, Nibiru, and the city of Anunnaki leader Enki. With aerial photographs, Tellinger shows how the extensive stone circle and road complexes are laid out according to the principles of sacred geometry and represent the remains of Tesla-like technology used to generate energy and carve immensely long tunnels straight into the Earth in search of gold--tunnels that still exist and whose origins had been a mystery until now. He reveals, with photographic evidence, that the human civilization spawned by the Anunnaki was the first to create many totems of ancient Egypt, such as the Horus bird, the Sphinx, the Ankh, and large pyramids, as well as construct an accurate stone calendar, at the heart of their civilization, aligned with the Orion constellation. He explores how their petroglyphs, carved into the hardest rock, are nearly identical to the hieroglyphs of Sumerian seals. Mapping thousands of square miles of continuous settlements and three urban centers--each one larger than modern-day Los Angeles--Tellinger provides the physical proof of Zecharia Sitchin's theories on the Anunnaki origins of humanity.

Customer Reviews

“This book has more photographs than I have ever seen in any similar books about lost civilizations. There were millions of mines, energy circles, agricultural terraces, calendars and statues that were most certainly buried by flood silt from the great Deluge between 12,000 to 13,000 years ago. If you are interested in archeology and/or ancient cultures then this is the book for you. Excellent book for anyone’s personal collection.” (Kyle Philson, Expanded Perspectives, January 2014)

“This is a beautiful picture book that contains amazing sights of astonishing discoveries that will require a dramatic paradigm shift in our perception of human history. Add to that a chapter at the end which features a mysterious, giant, 4 foot long human-like footprint found in a South African rock formation, and we have solid evidence that begs for a great deal of closer, intense examination. So far it’s all been ignored by mainstream science. We hope that changes in the very near future!” (Alan Glass, New Dawn Magazine, February 2014)

“Scientist and researcher Michael Tellinger uses aerial photos to document the road complexes that represent the remains of an advanced technology that carved long tunnels into the Earth in search of gold, and it covers urban areas larger than modern Los Angeles. Any new age and many a science library will find this an outstanding documentation.” (Midwest Book Review, July 2013)

“The book provides a great deal of archaeological evidence for a civilization on the southern tip of Africa that preceded Sumer and Egypt by 200,000 years. When readers look at the photographs in African Temples of the Anunnaki their first reaction is to ask why no one before has taken a serious look at these thousands of structures and petroglyphs. The answer is that we become complacent when other people tell us that there is nothing significant about them. Tellinger hopes that this book will demolish that complacency and make readers either believers or not either uncomfortable about the origins of their civilization.” (Sir Read Alot, July 2013)

Michael Tellinger is a scientist, researcher, and regular guest on more than 200 radio shows in the United States, United Kingdom, and Europe, such as Coast to Coast AM with George Noory and the Shirley Maclaine Show. In March 2011 he hosted the Megalithomania Conference in Johannesburg, South Africa, featuring Graham Hancock, Andrew Collins, and Robert Temple. The author of Slave Species of the Gods, he lives in South Africa.

I rated this book FIVE STAR for three important reasons. 1) A major new breakthrough archeological discovery has been found that absolutely shatters the myth that is currently passed off as human history and being taught in our schools. 2) Conventional archeologists and Establishment science are so terrified at the implications of this discovery that they are burying their heads in the sand and refusing to acknowledge its presence. 3) The existence of this archeological treasure is additional evidence and confirmation of Sitchin's theories and interpretation of Sumerian history ... Advanced aliens (The Anunnaki) colonized Earth in remote history and genetically altered the DNA of our early ancestors - Homo erectus, creating us - Modern Man! This major new find in South Africa is very recent (discovered in the 21st Century). Because the Establishment is so fearful of its impact on the commonly accepted story of evolution there is very little work and investigation being conducted. However, a picture is worth a thousand words. This book is beautifully color-illustrated with about a hundred photographs (including aerial) and seeing is believing. You will be stunned at the size of these building complexes and roads ... with some locations including as many as a million stone building/structures. If you have an open mind this book must be in your library. Robert Steven Thomas, author: Intelligent Intervention

The best aspect of this book is Tellinger's encouragement of us all to explore our world & come up with our own ideas! We've been lost too long in the confines of what the academics & "experts" tell us, as though only they know the answers. It might very well be that archaeology has been hijacked to stop us from knowing our origins, and thus our identity & possibility as a species. It is up to each of us to look & think for ourselves. Keep researching, observe & ask questions. This book gives plenty of clues as to where to look on your own journey of discovery. Tellinger's follow-up presentations on YouTube round out some of his assertions of an energy grid on/around earth, one of which is described in this book. The personal journey of discovery is far more satisfying than any other pursuit we can undertake. This book can be your launching pad if you let it!

I found myself debating the conclusions this author draws. While a thought provoking book is a good thing, I was looking for more proof for his conclusions than is currently available. Understanding civilizations of 1000 years ago based on only archaeology leads to many tentative or outright wrong conclusions. Multiply that by 50 to 100 times to leave me wondering if only the amount of lichen on the stones may be quantifiable. 100,000 to 200,000 years? Older than Gobekli Tepi? We need more information.

Tellinger's discovery and insights around these stone circles is fascinating. I suspect these are older than a few hundred thousand years. But, could have occurred around the time Enki was there.

The previously 'hidden' ruined villages and work sites is amazing and revelatory. Not all the author's theories are verifiable, but give food for thought. A little attention to photographic and written passages that are repeated throughout, could have made this a research tool. A very interesting read, a thoughtful set of theories, that leave you looking for more.

The photographs are wonderful and the information is riveting. The link with South Africa and the gold mines made it so personal, as my father is a South African geologist. It opened a whole new vista for me of the hidden ancient history of Africa. It provided me an understanding of why I chose to be born in Africa. However, what was happening in ancient Africa has relevance to all of humanity. I highly recommend this book.

So many things hidden from our view and the pictures open up what you can never see on the ground. Michael Tellinger then explains what you are seeing and if that isn't a mind bender then nothing will be. It challenges us to ask if we are really seekers of the truth. If not what you might find may end your seeking. If you are go for the ride.

Awesome!
